

Dear Client,

We would like to inform you that the upcoming US presidential elections, which will take place on 3rd November 2020, will possibly lead to extreme market volatility, thin market liquidity, abnormal spreads, and price gaps.

In light of the elections, and in order to protect our clients and our Company from the anticipated market turbulence during the elections, Forex24 will implement the following temporary measure:

From 00:00 a.m. server time (GMT+2) on Wednesday, 4th November 2020, the margin required for all positions (for opening new positions and for maintaining existing positions) will be temporarily increased for all instruments to:

- 10% (10:1 leverage) for all CFDs on Indices (DJCUS.D.c, AXCAUD.c, GECEUR.c, FRCEUR.c, JPCJPY.c, EXCEUR.c, NACUSD.c, SPCUSD.c, UKCGBP.c)
- 20% (5:1 leverage) for all CFDs on Energies (UKOIL.c and USOIL.c).

This temporary measure will be completely waived for all positions and margin requirements will revert back to normal (as per normal client account leverage settings) by Wednesday 5th November 2020, shortly after the announcement of the results of the US presidential elections.

Clients who intend to keep open positions during the upcoming US presidential elections should ensure that their accounts are sufficiently funded to avoid any disturbances from possible margin calls and/or stop-outs in their trading activity.
